

Title: Registration and Call for abstracts now open for EUNOS 2024

Dear colleague,

Registration is now open for the 16th Meeting of the European Neuro-Ophthalmology Society (EUNOS 2024) from 3 to 6 June 2024 in Rotterdam, The Netherlands. Mark your calendar and register today with the discounted Early-bird fee.

The preliminary programme is now online.

Pre-Meeting course on optic nerve disease

Make the most of your visit to EUNOS 2024, and join the course on optic nerve disease that will be held before the start of EUNOS 2024 on the afternoon of Monday 3 June 2024.

Judith van Everdingen, Neuro-ophthalmologist at the Rotterdam Eye Hospital will host this course that will feature other renowned international faculty, such as Nancy Newman and Valerie Biousse from Emory University. Each speaker is an expert in neuro-ophthalmology and will provide updates on different aspects of optic nerve diseases. Participants will be able to update their knowledge on topics such as optic neuritis, vascular optic neuropathy, intracranial hypertension, inherited optic diseases, and the use of OCT in the diagnostic process of optic neuropathy. The course will be an outstanding warm up for general specialists and residents attending the EUNOS Meeting that starts the next day. A special discount is offered to those attending the EUNOS Meeting as well – so make the most of your trip to Rotterdam and attend both!

Submit your abstract today!

Still haven't submitted an abstract for EUNOS 2024?

Submit your abstract today at EUNOS 2024 Call for Abstracts page.

We are accepting abstracts in the following topics.

We would especially like to encourage young researchers to share their work. For the first time ever at a EUNOS Meeting, the best abstracts submitted by young researchers will be featured on stage during the Young Investigator Session. If you are 35 years old or under, be sure to select the topic "Young investigator" during the submission of your abstract.

And another first for the EUNOS Meeting will be the Rapid fire poster presentation session. Submitters of the best abstracts will be invited to present their abstract in 2 minutes on stage during this session.

Important dates:

- 15 January 2024: Abstract submission deadline
- 30 November: Online registration opens
- 13 March 2024: Notification of abstract review outcomes
- Early Bird registration deadline: 27 March 2024
